Action Against Hunger | ACF International has mobilized an emergency response following the earthquake that devastated the city of Port-au-Prince yesterday. ACF teams on the ground have begun to carry out rapid evaluations across the city, while additional support, equipment, and materials—including water treatment supplies, emergency vehicles, and communications equipment—are en route from ACF's bases in Gonaives. In addition, a team has been mobilized to arrive with an initial planeload of emergency stocks from its staging grounds in Paris to supplement efforts on the ground.

ActionAid asks for donations for its relief efforts. ActionAid has been working in Haiti since 1996 and is deploying an emergency team to deliver clean water, shelter and goods like blankets and soap. Though communications were initially cut off by the quake, ActionAid's Haiti Representative Jean-Claude Fignole sent out a desperate plea early this morning: "Send as much as you can, as quickly as you can." The scale of devastation completely overwhelms all available resources. Tens of thousands of people urgently need immediate help.

Lutheran World Relief is responding through partners on the ground in Haiti and is asking for donations to help with this effort. LWR has committed an initial $1,000,000 to the relief effort, and will reevaluate that commitment as new reports emerge. LWR is also responding through the Action by Churches Together (ACT) alliance to support immediate relief efforts of food, water, medicine and shelter. Every dollar donated to this life-saving effort is critical to providing the necessary emergency support to the people of Haiti. For more, visit lwr.org/Haiti

202-449-6398

1600 K Street NW Suite 450

Washington, DC, 20006
United States

<http://www.merlin-usa.org>

Merlin is responding to the 7.0-magnitude earthquake that struck Haiti — the worst quake in Haiti's history. Merlin's emergency response team will immediately begin working with Haitians and other international agencies to meet the most urgent needs: water, sanitation, shelter, disease prevention and restoration of basic health services. The main elements of Merlin's Haiti emergency response are expected to be: distribution of aid materials and equipment, support to local health staff, and training community members to help protect public health. Merlin is calling on the public to provide support in our relief efforts.

Mercy Corps's Response to the Earthquake in Haiti

1-888-256-1900

45 Ankeny Street

Portland, OR, 97201
United States

<http://mercycorps.org>

Mercy Corps is sending a team of emergency responders to Haiti in the wake of a 7.0 magnitude earthquake that rocked the island nation on Tuesday. The team will assess damage, and seek to fulfill immediate needs of quake survivors. The earthquake exacerbates an already dire humanitarian situation in Haiti, the poorest country in the Western Hemisphere. Plagued by hunger and political instability, the quake is likely to dramatically increase the needs of many impoverished Haitian families. Mercy Corps has a long history of helping earthquake survivors. The agency aided families after earthquakes in Peru in 2007, China and Pakistan in 2008, and Indonesia last year.

UUSC responds strategically to disaster situations where human rights are threatened, focusing on the rights of marginalized and oppressed people. We work with the understanding that disasters, whether natural or man-made, tend to disproportionately harm those who are already marginalized in society or are neglected by traditional relief strategies. In response to the earthquake in Haiti, UUSC will identify and channel relief funds to grassroots and colleague organizations that are best able to provide immediate aid to survivors, as well as to meet longer-term needs of recovery.
